

Integrating Sand Tray Therapy Into Family and Group Psychotherapies

Workshop Saturday June 9, 2018

8:30 AM- 4:30 PM

Samaritan Health & Living Center

311 W. High Street

Elkhart, IN 46516

$150 includes 5.5 CEUs for Psychologists, LCSWs, LMHCs, LMFTs, and LCACs

This advanced workshop is designed to help clinicians integrate sand tray process into their work with families and groups. We will use case illustrations, didactic and experiential methods to explore the power and possibility of integrating sand tray into one's work with various systems. Participants should have a strong foundation in family and/or group dynamics, in addition to training and experience with sand tray process.

Heather Maritano, LCSW, Registered Play Therapy Supervisor (RPT-S)

Heather started her private practice in 1998, working with a variety of issues in individual and family therapy. She has clinical specialties in play therapy, sand tray therapy and supervision.

In addition to clinical work, Heather has extensive experience as an adjunct instructor, supervisor, workshop presenter and clinical consultant wherein she helps emerging and seasoned therapists enhance their development through training and supervision.

Heather regularly practices her belief in the healing power of play and is particularly fond of dancing.
